European Public Law

Editor-in-Chief: Patrick J. Birkinshaw

European Public Law is an English language journal edited at the Institute of European Public Law at the Law School, Hull University. A forum for the discussion of issues in the development of public law, the journal traces the public law of the Member States as it is shaped by the law of the European Community as well as by the Council of Europe’s European Convention on Human Rights.

European Public Law provides a detailed analysis of constitutional and administrative law at a crucial stage of European integration and legal development. In its high-quality articles, authorities in the field investigate the extent to which the separate systems of public law in each Member State are, notwithstanding their distinct historical and cultural backgrounds, developing a European Public Law in tandem with the law of the European Community Treaty. The journal also examines the public law systems of new Member States.

In short, the journal embraces:

- the operation and control of government and government agencies,
- the regulation of economic and commercial affairs and
- the relationships between the state and individuals.
