

Table of Contents

Foreword	xv
Preface	xvii
List of Abbreviations	xix
List of Tables	xxi
List of Figures	xxiii
CHAPTER 1
An Overview of China's Stock Market	1
§1.01 An Overview of China's Market for Corporate Control	1
§1.02 "Sliced and Diced" Stock Markets in China	6
§1.03 "Split Share Structure Reform"	9
§1.04 " Guo Jin Min Tui " after the Global Financial Crisis	10
[A] The Debate over " Guo Jin Min Tui "	10
[B] The Supervision and Administration Authority of SOEs	12
[C] Case One: Restructuring Coal Industry in Shanxi Province	13
[D] Case: Mengniu (HK, 02319) and Huiyuan (HK, 01886)	14
[E] From " Guo Jin Min Tui " to a "Diversified Ownership Economy"	15
CHAPTER 2
Outline	17
§2.01 Participants in China's Corporate Control Market	17
[A] State-Owned Listed Companies (CS)	17
[B] Family Controlled Listed Companies (CMS)	18
[C] Institutional Investors	19
[D] Minority Shareholders	19
§2.02 Legal Reform of LMLEP	20

Table of Contents

§2.03	Research Methodology	23
	[A] Law and Economics	23
	[B] Case Studies	23
	[C] Comparative Studies	24
	[D] Interviews	24
	[E] Data Collection	24
§2.04	Outline	25
	[A] Section One: Introduction and Background	25
	[B] Section Two: Participants in Corporate Control Transactions in China	25
	[C] Section Three: The Perspectives of Legislation and Law Enforcement	26
	[D] Section Four: Conclusion	27
CHAPTER 3
China's State-Owned Listed Companies: Conflict of Interests and Institutional Settings
		29
§3.01	Institutional Setting 1: Transformation of Ownership Structure	30
	[A] Ownership and Control	31
	[B] Controlling Shareholder's Role: "Expropriation View" v. "Monitoring View"	34
	[C] The Conflict of Interests: Private Benefits of Control v. Public Benefits of Control	36
§3.02	Institutional Setting 2: "From State to Market": Share Issue Privatizations	38
	[A] Government's Deep Involvement	39
	[B] "How to Trade Non-tradable Shares": The Role of Government as the "Invisible Hand," "Helping Hand" or "Grabbing Hand"	41
§3.03	Institutional Setting 3: "Two Thirds Privatization" and the Split Share Structure Reform	43
§3.04	Institution Setting 4: The Asset Pricing Issue for A-Shares	47
	[A] The Starting Point: The Price Difference between Tradable Shares (TS) and Non-tradable Shares (NTS)	47
	[B] State-Owned Asset Pricing Criteria for China's Listed Companies	49
	[C] The Liquidity, Liquidity Premium and Price Differences in Different Markets	50
	[D] Control Premiums in Takeover Bids	53
	[E] Asset Pricing and Control Premiums in MBOs	54
	[F] Asset Pricing and Premiums in Agreement Takeovers and Restructuring	54
	[G] Summary	55
§3.05	Institutional Setting 5: Management Disciplinary Mechanism of Corporate Takeovers	56
§3.06	Conclusion	58

CHAPTER 4
Family Controlled Listed Companies: CMS in Group Affiliates	61
§4.01 Introduction	62
§4.02 CMS in China's Family Controlled Listed Companies	65
[A] CMS: The Separation of Control and Voting Rights	65
[B] China's Family Controlled Listed Companies	67
§4.03 Pyramid Structure: The Case of D'Long	70
[A] The Pyramid Structure: A Four-Tier Model	70
[B] The Case of D'Long	74
§4.04 Cross-Shareholding: The Case of Zhong Guang Affiliate	77
[A] The Case of Zhong Guang Affiliate	78
[1] Rapid Expansion	79
[2] Capital Chain	79
[3] Business Operation	80
[B] Evolution of China's Cross-Shareholding Companies	81
§4.05 Conclusion	83
CHAPTER 5
Institutional Investors	85
§5.01 An Overview of China's Emerging Institutional Fund Industry	86
§5.02 The Era of " Zhuanggu " (1997-2004)	87
[A] Securities Investment Fund Companies	88
[B] Securities Companies	88
[C] Investment Funds	90
[D] Private Equity	92
[E] Trust Investment Companies	95
[F] The Market Manipulator or Maintainer of Stock Market Stability	98
[1] Cases Concerning Insider Trading and Market Manipulation during the Zhuanggu Era	99
[2] The Case of Zhong Ke Chuang Ye : The First Case Concerning Market-Price Manipulation	101
[3] The Case of China Economic Development Trust and Investment Corporation: Manipulating Stock Prices of Dongfang Dianzi and Yin Guang Xia	102
[4] The Case of Guangdong Yorkpint S & T Co., Ltd (Yi' An Science & Technology, 000008)	104
§5.03 Value Investment and "Herding" (2002-2014)	105
[A] Pension Funds/Social Insurance Funds	107
[B] QFII and RQFII	109
[C] Strategic Investors	114
[D] Valuation Adjustment Mechanism: HaiFu Investment v. Gansu Shiheng	116
[E] Herding	117
[F] What Triggered China's 2007 Bull Market?	120

Table of Contents

§5.04	Quantitative Investment after 2010	123
	[A] The Case of Everbright (2013)	123
	[B] Other Financial Tools	124
§5.05	Institutional Activism and Its Practices in China	125
	[A] Institutional Investor Activism v. Institutional Passivity	125
	[B] Cases Concerning Shareholder Activism	127
§5.06	The Controversial Role of Institutional Investors in Investor Protection	131
CHAPTER 6
	Minority Shareholders	133
§6.01	“Better Than a Casino?”: A Speculative Market	133
	[A] “Tunneling” and Expropriating Minority Shareholders	134
	[B] “One Share, One Vote” and “Equal Share, Equal Rights”	135
§6.02	Tunneling and Expropriating Minority Shareholders by Large Shareholders	136
	[A] Tunneling Assets, Profits and/or Resources out of Listed Companies	137
	[B] Tunneling through Related Party Transactions	138
	[C] Tunneling through Misappropriation	139
	[D] Tunneling Earnings Management	141
	[E] Tunneling Dividends	142
	[F] Tunneling through Sales of Control Blocks without Equal Treatment among Shareholders	143
	[G] Tunneling through Refinancing	144
	[H] Tunneling Control Benefits through Corporate Restructuring	145
	[I] Executive Remuneration	146
	[J] Management Buyouts (MBOs) in China: “ Huai Ju Wei Zhi ”?	147
	[K] Diluting Equity	148
	[L] Tunneling through Acquisitions of ST Companies	149
§6.03	Affiliated Group in China	150
	[A] The Case of Greencool : The Collapse of a “Capital Manipulator”	151
	[B] List of Group Affiliates	152
§6.04	Insider Control Arising from Controlling Shareholders	168
	[A] Board Independence	169
	[1] The General Meeting of Shareholders	169
	[2] The Supervisory Board	171
	[3] Independent Directors	172
	[B] Board Composition	173
§6.05	“Strong Controlling Shareholders, Weak Minority Shareholders”: Game Theory	174
	[A] Controlling Shareholders versus Minority Shareholders	174
	[B] Game Theory	176

CHAPTER 7
Evolution of CSRC'S IPO System (1992-Present)	181
§7.01 The Regulator: CSRC	181
§7.02 Evolution of China's IPO Approval System (1992-Present)	183
[A] IPO Examination Committee (IEC)	183
[B] CSRC's IPO Examination Systems (1993-2014)	185
[1] Stage 1: "Quota Management" (1993-1995)	186
[2] Stage 2: Index Management (from 1996 to 2000)	187
[3] Stage 3: "Channel System" (from 2001 to 2004)	187
[4] Stage 4: Sponsor System (from 2004 to 2014)	188
§7.03 Regulatory Control over the IPO Pricing System	189
[A] Fixed IPO Price (from 1991 to 1998)	190
[B] Inquiry Pricing (1999-2004)	191
[C] Book Building (2005-Present)	192
§7.04 Regulatory Control over the P/E Ratio: "Policy of Discount Window"	193
§7.05 Regulatory Control over Securities Ration/Allotment	194
[A] The Call Warrants (Prior to 1995)	194
[B] Two Methods of Unlimited Issuing of Application Forms – Full Amount in Advance Payment and Saving Deposit-Involved Method	195
[1] Full Amount in Advance Payment	195
[2] Savings Method	196
[3] Online Pricing Issuance of Stocks by the Fixed Price	196
[4] Procedure of Online Subscription	197
[C] Price Inquiry System	198
§7.06 Window Instructions on Issuance Rhythm	199
§7.07 Sponsorship	199
[A] "Double Sponsorship"	200
[B] The Case of Sheng Jing Shan He (2010)	201
§7.08 Issuance and Underwriting	202
CHAPTER 8
Exchange Policy and Openness of Stock Market	203
§8.01 Financial Liberalization: Two Sides of a Coin	203
§8.02 A "Quarantined" Economy in the 1997 Asian Financial Crisis and the Debate over the RMB Revaluation	206
[A] Japan's Financial Regime	207
[B] Hong Kong, Singapore, and Taiwan	207
[C] Korea	208
[D] Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia, and Philippines	208
[E] Debate over the RMB Evaluation	209
§8.03 The Changing Exchange Rate Mechanism and Gradual RMB Appreciation (1994-2013)	210

Table of Contents

§8.04	Large-Scale Economic Stimuli and RMB Valuation Paradox – “RMB’s External Appreciation and Internal Depreciation”	217
§8.05	Interaction between the RMB Revaluation and Fluctuations of Stock Market	223
§8.06	Bubbles to Burst: Lessons from the Japan Experience	225
CHAPTER 9
	Investor Protection: A Perspective of Lawmaking	227
§9.01	The Current Legal Framework of Corporate Takeovers	227
	[A] The Current Legal Framework of Takeovers in China	228
	[1] General Laws Concerning Corporate Takeovers	228
	[2] Administrative Regulations	228
	[3] Self-Regulatory Rules	231
	[4] Judicial Interpretations	232
	[B] Two Paradigms: The U.S. Model and U.K. Model	234
	[1] The American Model: Regulatory Structure in the United States	234
	[2] The British Model: Regulatory Structure in the U.K.	235
	[C] “Incomplete Law”	235
§9.02	The Fiduciary Duty of Controlling Shareholders	239
	[A] Definition of “Corporate Control”	240
	[B] Definition of “Controlling Shareholders”	241
	[C] Establishment of Controlling Shareholders’ Fiduciary Duty	243
	[D] Fiduciary Duty of Controlling Shareholders under the Current Chinese Law	244
	[E] Criteria for Violating Fiduciary Duty of Controlling Shareholders: U.S. Tests	245
	[1] “The Business Judgment Rule”: Paramount Communications, Inc versus QVC Network, Inc.	245
	[2] The Unocal Test: Unocal Corp. versus Mesa Petroleum Co.	246
	[3] The Revlon Rule: Revlon Inc. versus. MacAndrews Forbes Holding Inc.	246
§9.03	The Introduction of Appraisal Rights of the Dissenters	247
	[A] Origin of Appraisal Rights	247
	[B] Market-Out Exception	248
	[C] Related Chinese Legislation	249
	[D] Historical Determinations of “Fair Value”	251
	[1] The Delaware Block Method	252
	[2] The Discounted Cash Flow Method (DCF)	252
	[3] The Comparable Company Method	252
	[4] The Third-Party Sales Value	253
	[5] Capital Cash Flow (CCF) Valuation	253
§9.04	Insider Trading	253
	[A] Viewpoints for/against Insider Trading	254

Table of Contents

	[B] How to Define “Insider Information”	255
	[C] The Definition of an “Insider”	256
	[D] How to Define “Insider Trading”	260
§9.05	Institutional Frameworks to Improve Voting Rights of Minority Shareholders	261
	[A] Proxy Solicitation	261
	[B] Cumulative Voting System	262
	[C] Classified Voting System	263
	[D] Voting Trust System	263
	[E] Restrictions on Large Shareholders’ Voting Rights	264
	[F] Elimination of Large Shareholders’ Voting Rights in Affiliated Transactions	265
	[G] Internet Voting System	266
	[H] Voting Agreements	266
	[I] Comparison of Various Voting Systems	266
	[J] Summary: The Abuse of Majority Capital Principle and “One Share, One Vote”	268
§9.06	Board Veto	269
	[A] Easterbrook and Fisher: The Passive Role of Board Veto	269
	[B] Debates after Easterbrook and Fishel	269
	[C] Proper Role of Management of Target Companies in Hostile Takeovers	271
§9.07	Takeover Disclosure System	272
§9.08	Takeovers by Agreement and the Relevant Regulation	273
	[A] Substantial and Procedural Stipulations on Agreement Takeovers	274
§9.09	Control Premiums: To Be Shared or Not?	275
CHAPTER 10
	China’s Securities Watchdog	277
§10.01	The “Policy-Driven” Stock Market in China	277
	[A] Using Government Policy to Instruct the Stock Index on a Highly Concentrated and Government-Controlled Market (1992-2005)	278
	[B] “Two-Third Privatization” – The Split Share Structure Reform (2005-2011)	281
	[C] What Is a Policy-Driven Market?	285
	[D] Externality of Government Intervention: The Case of Xiaoshi Wang	286
§10.02	Imbalance between Public Enforcement and Private Enforcement	288
	[A] The Regulator: CSRC	288
	[B] Judicial Enforcement versus Administrative Enforcement	290
	[1] Judicial Review	291
	[2] Hainan Kaili Central Development & Construction Co., Ltd. versus CSRC	292
	[C] Government Regulation versus Self-Regulation	294

Table of Contents

[1]	The Shanghai Stock Exchange and the Shenzhen Stock Exchange	295
[2]	The Securities Association of China (SAC)	296
[3]	The China Securities Investor Protection Fund Co., Ltd.	296
§10.03	The Recent Reforms of the CSRC	298
[A]	IPO Issuance System Reform	298
[B]	Gradual Deregulation of Securities Industry	299
[C]	Transition from Thinking Much of Beforehand Approval to Afterwards Supervision	300
§10.04	Conclusion	302
CHAPTER 11
The Role of People’s Courts in Private Securities Litigation: Passive Courts and Weak Investor Protection		303
§11.01	Investor Protection in China: “A Right without Adequate Remedy”?	303
[A]	The Courts’ Weak Role	305
[B]	Inadequate Enforcement	308
[C]	Selective Enforcement	310
[D]	Ineffective Enforcement	311
[E]	Inefficient Enforcement	313
§11.02	Selected Remedies for Minority Shareholders	315
[A]	Procedural Remedy: Shareholder Derivative Actions	315
[B]	Procedural Remedy: Class Action versus Group Litigation	317
[C]	Inversion of the Burden of Proof	319
[D]	Settlement as a Dispute Resolution	320
§11.03	Private Litigation of Securities Disputes	323
[A]	Private Litigation of False Statements	323
[1]	Procedural Prerequisite and Jurisdiction	324
[2]	The Defendants	325
[3]	Principles of Liability	325
[4]	Causation between False Statement and Loss	326
[5]	Calculation of Investor Damages Related to False Statements	328
[B]	Private Litigation of Insider Trading	332
[C]	Private Litigation of Market Manipulation	334
§11.04	Enhancing Judicial Governance of Private Securities Litigation	336
[A]	Judicial Enforcement versus Administrative Enforcement	336
[B]	Judicial Review: A Means to Restrict Administrative Power	338
[C]	Judicial Interpretation	339
[D]	Judicial Independence	341
§11.05	Conclusion	345
Conclusion		347
Selected Bibliography		357

Table of Contents

Table of Cases	375
Table of Statutes	377
Index	387